Applicants, please be sure you have read and understood all the rules and regulations stated below.

Timing

Applications, payment and video must be submitted via the OCO website by Friday March 31, 2023 at 11:59PM. After the judges have had a chance to review the videos, finalists for the in-person competition will be chosen. All competitors will be emailed with the results of the first round by April 15, 2023.

Entrance Eligibility

- You are currently a) a permanent or temporary resident of Canada or b) a Canadian citizen currently living outside of Canada or c) a foreign student currently residing in Canada.
- Instrumentalists for the Junior age category must have been born on or after January 1st, 2005;
- Instrumentalists for the Senior age category must have been born on or after January 1st, 2001;
- Vocalists are in the Senior category and must have been born on or after January 1st, 1997;
- Previous OCO Youth Concerto Competition 1st prize winners are not permitted to re-apply in the same category for a period of one year.

Audition Music, Application Process and Competition Procedure

Applicants must:

- Submit the completed online Application Form (see green rectangle button at bottom of page);
- Submit a video of themselves personally performing their concerto or suite of arias. Piano accompaniment is required. This includes piano concertos which must have second piano accompaniment. The accompanist must be provided by the participant;
- Applicants for the Junior age category must submit a video of one movement only of a concerto. Applicants for the Senior age category must submit a video of an entire concerto. Vocalists must prepare a suite of three arias of a duration of not less than ten minutes. We will not accept the use of an audio recording for any accompaniment. Concerto movements or arias may be recorded separately;
- For the first, video, round of the competition participants are not required to memorise their music. For the second, in-person, round music must be memorised;

- The video submitted must have been recorded after March 31, 2022 and it may not be the same video submitted for the 2022 Oakville Chamber Orchestra Youth Concerto Competition;
- Any concerto or suite of arias is acceptable for the 1st and 2nd rounds. However, as OCO is a chamber orchestra, winners may be required to select different repertoire for their prize concert, due to orchestration and other concerns;
- The cash prize is awarded following your concert performance and is contingent upon this performance. Should you miss your scheduled rehearsal(s) you may be asked to not perform in the concert. In this case the cash prize will not be awarded;
- Pay a non-refundable Application Fee of C$75 (see blue rectangle button at bottom of page);
- Have completely reviewed and fully understand the rules and regulations;
- Adhere to the rules stated above;
- Comply with eligibility criteria.

Consent

Some of the submitted recordings, at OCO's sole discretion, may also be featured on OCO's various social media platforms, including the Orchestra's YouTube channel. In the event of placing 1st or 2nd in the competition, contestants give their consent to having their performance with the Orchestra video-recorded and having the video, audio or photographs made publicly available through the OCO website and social media applications. Recordings and photographs will remain the property of the Orchestra.

The Jury

A panel of three professional musician judges, including the OCO's Music Director, will review the videos in the first round. A different jury of notable GTA musicians will form the jury together with OCO's Music Director, and select the finalists during the in-person second round.

The jury has the discretion not to award a prize.
